

COMMON TABLES

	JUNE 3-9 / INCLUDE SOMEONE Invite someone over for a meal who does not share your faith commitment or way of life, and pull out the stops to make them feel welcome.
	JUNE 10-16 / DELIVER A MEAL Play the role of host not by inviting someone over to your house, but by bringing someone an extravagant meal that you've either prepared or purchased. (Imagine what would blow you away, and bring that.)
	JUNE 17-23 / GIVE UP A MEAL Give up one of your regular meals this week. During the time you would normally spend eating, reflect on how your daily dependence on food points to your daily dependence on God.
	JUNE 24-30 / LISTEN TO A STORY Make a simple meal to eat with someone you'd like to get to know better. During that meal, ask them to tell their story, listening attentively, and ask good questions.
	JULY 1-7 / BREAK ALL THE RULES Eat a meal with your family or close friends in which you break every possible rule (don't pray at the beginning; don't use plates; eat with your hands; wear old-shirts for wiping your hands, etc.).
	JULY 8-14 / OPEN YOUR HOME Host an open house meal/cookout for your neighbors -- all of them. Anybody should be welcome, with no strings attached.
	JULY 15-21 / UN-DELAY SOMEONE Accept an outstanding invitation to a meal that you've put off because of busyness. Or make an invitation to share a meal with someone with whom you've been meaning to connect.
	JULY 22 / COMMUNE Participate in Communion in a new way and really listen to the story of what is happening right there and then. Look into the eyes of the people you are communing with.
	JULY 29 / BE COMMUNAL Enjoy one big communal meal to enjoy the presence of God and each other! Bring a chair or a frisbee or a friend, and we'll all eat together.
